Each assigned coachee is provided with eight sessions of 75-minute duration each, over a period of 12 months; that is, at intervals of 3–6 weeks.

Optional Value-Add

The engagement includes up to two Expectations Mapping Sessions with the Sponsor / Performance Manager at the outset, to align on context and objectives. The Sponsor may also conduct a Mid-Point and Final-Review session, if they wish to.

Focus of the First Session

- Establishing rapport and confirming confidentiality to create a safe environment
- Clarifying experience of and expectation from this coaching
- Defining responsibilities in the coaching partnership
- Setting accountability
- Anticipating setbacks
- Identifying what is important — clarifying the coachee's primary focus
- Getting started on the primary focus
- Achieving alignment on the learnings to implement by the next session
- Enabling a deeper chemistry check between the coach and coachee
- The coachee has the option to continue the coaching journey with the current coach, or select another Influence Solutions' master coach
- 3–6 week gap post this session — this is an opportunity to implement learning

Setting & Tracking Development Goals

- Development goals are established collaboratively in Session 1, informed by the coachee's 360 (if available)
- Progress against these goals is reviewed at the start of every subsequent session and tracked through to the Final Session review.

The Intermediate Sessions

- Discussion about the actions implemented — successes and setbacks
- Further exploration of the primary focus for learning or other areas that emerge
- Discuss “bumps along the way” and how they can be overcome
- Agreement on learning to implement by the next session
- 3–6 week gap post this session — this is an opportunity to implement learning

COACHING PROGRAM OUTLINE (CONTINUED)

- Further exploration of the primary focus for learning or other areas that emerge
- Discuss “bumps along the way” and how they can be overcome
- Agreement on learning to implement by the next session
- A 3–6 week gap post this session — this is an opportunity to implement learning

The Final Session

- Discussion about the actions implemented — successes and setbacks
- Further exploration of the primary focus for learning
- Review of progress and determination of whether further sessions are required.
- Agreement on the learning to implement and where to find ongoing support
- On-going learning: an opportunity to continue applying their learning and discuss what ongoing support the coachee requires
- A Sponsor End-Point Review follows, closing the loop on outcomes achieved.

Measuring Progress & Sponsor Reporting

Progress is measured through:

- the coachee's self-rated confidence and readiness against session goals
- the Sponsor's mid-point and final point review (if the option is exercised)
- a compiled feedback summary submitted to the Sponsor after the Final Session.

COACHING TOOLS & METHODOLOGIES

Our coaches are trained across multiple globally recognised coaching methodologies and flex their approach to match each coachee's context, goals, and preferred way of working.

- Goal-focused frameworks (e.g. GROW) to structure conversations and drive accountability
- Stakeholder-centred and systemic coaching to address organisational context, not just the individual
- Behavioural and psychometric profiling to sharpen self-awareness and stakeholder influence
- Cognitive and reframing techniques to support decision-making under pressure
- Strengths-based coaching to build confidence and sustain momentum
- Scenario rehearsal and role-play for high-stakes presentations and stakeholder engagements

CUT THROUGH THE CLUTTER, CALIBRATE FOR SUCCESS

Roles in the Engagement

- Coachee
 - commits to sessions, completes practice assignments, drives their own agenda.
- Coach
 - provides structure, tools, challenge and accountability; maintains confidentiality.
- Sponsor
 - uses the Expectations Mapping Session to set context at the outset, may elect a Mid-Point Review after Session 4, and receives an End-Point Review after the final session.
 - The Sponsor Reporting concerns agreed objectives, progress and outcomes, not confidential details of coaching conversations.

Confidentiality

To ensure a safe zone for the coachee(s), the Sponsor shall not ask the Influence Solutions (ISPL) executive coach to divulge specific details shared by any coachee in the coaching sessions.

This should be communicated by the Sponsor to the coachee(s), and will also be communicated by the ISPL coach to the coachee at the start of every session. (This clause does not, however, apply to anything that the ISPL executive coach is legally bound to reveal.)
